Sorting blocks helps develop problem-solving skills To give your child the possible start in life, you don't have to have all the answers or do things a certain way. At Fisher-Price, we're dedicated to helping you do just that by working tirelessly to bring you gear and toys.

Discover What Happens

Little ones will have a blast with this exciting gift set, which features two iconic Fisher-Price toys: a rock-a-stack and baby's first blocks! with all the bat-at play and shape-sorting fun, your baby will be busy as a Bee developing fine motor and problem solving skills.

Fisher-Price toys are made to help all kids "from infants to toddlers to preschoolers" develop through play, in their own ways, because that's how they learn at each age and stage. And for babies, our gear offers simple solutions (more sleep, anyone?) you can't possibly parent without.

Discover what happens

From grasping and shaking to sorting and stacking, the Fisher-Price Rock-a-Stack toy has tons of fun ways for your baby to play and explore. Babies can sort and stack all five rings, then bat at the wobbly base to see what happens, helping to enhance their curiosity and sense of discovery.

Features:

10 colorful blocks to sort, stack & drop

Five colorful rings are fun for younger babies to grasp, hold, shake and explore

Rock-a-Stack introduces concepts of relative size & stacking

Blocks introduce colors & shapes

The fun grows with baby

Baby's First Blocks grows with your baby's developing skills. When your little one is ready for a challenge, the shape sorter lid fits right on top of the bucket for sorting and matching play. Five shaped openings encourage little ones to drop the shape blocks through their corresponding openings. And when they're done, it's fun to dump the bucket and start it all again.

See what develops

Sitting up for sorting and stacking play exercises your baby's developing balance and coordination skills. Plus, the colorful shapes offer a fun way to extend play into an early learning opportunity. As your baby puts blocks into the bucket, identify the colors ('That block is red'), shapes ('Look, that's a triangle'), and counting, as baby puts all 10 blocks into the bucket one by one.

Five shaped openings encourage little ones to drop the shape blocks through their corresponding openings. And when they're done, it's fun to dump the bucket and start it all again.

While they're stacking the rings on the base from biggest to smallest, babies are starting to understand the concept of relative size. (Plus, it's super fun).
