New Family

When you get home from a long day at work, cluttered rooms and gardens nothing to soothe your stress.

New Family always looking for new ways to organize every room in the house.

storage systems and fancy containers take up a lot of space and can get pretty pricey.

S-hook is an excellent solution to your problem.

Hang Up Cooking Utensils

Cooking in a small kitchen certainly has its challenges—especially when you have a lot of utensils and other supplies and no countertop space to store them. Suspending cooking utensils from S-hooks on a strong rod or rack will clear up counter space, leaving you with more room to chop, stir, and serve.

Keep Jewelry off Your Dresser

Jewelry adds so much to our outfits—and creates so much clutter on top of our dressers and bathroom counters. Clean up those messy surfaces by hanging a rod inside a closet door or above a dresser and using it to suspend your jewelry from S-hooks. As a bonus, you'll never have to untangle a necklace again.

Store Cleaning Supplies

No matter the size of your home, it seems like the utility closet, or whatever space you use to stash your cleaning supplies, is always a chaotic mess. Keep your mops, brooms, dusters, and dustpans off the floor and neatly suspended from S-hooks on a towel bar, or rod.

Squeeze Space out of a Small Bathroom

Without a linen closet or vanity cabinet, you have limited storage options for towels and other bath supplies. But if you invest in just a few S-hooks, you can keep these bathroom must-haves off the floor and close at hand.
